

Holiday Committee's Plans Include Ball, Orphan's Party, Tea

• THE WEEK BEFORE Christmas vacation promises to be a busy one, according to Claire Chennault and Tim Mead, co-chairmen of the University's first Holiday Season committee.

A schedule of five events has been set up by the committee, beginning with the annual Toy Drive on Monday, December 9, and ending with the All-University Orphan's party on Thursday, December 19. Also included will be the Holiday Ball, Faculty Tea, tree lighting ceremony and Messiah Chorus presentation. Members of the faculty and student body are invited to attend all functions free of charge.

The opening event, a toy drive for the collection of gifts to be distributed at the Orphans party, will last until Monday, December 16. Gladys Frank, chairman of the drive, urges students to bring new or used toys in good condition to the boxes set up in all main University buildings.

Holiday Ball

A Holiday Ball on Friday, December 13 will highlight the week according to the committee. The dance, sponsored by the Student Council and the Dance Production group, will begin at 9:00 p.m. on

America Faces Great Demand For Scientists

• "OUR WHOLE CIVILIZATION is likely to crumble if we do not produce enough technicians," warned Dr. Benjamin Van Evera at last month's meeting of Alpha Theta Nu, scholarship holders' honorary.

Dr. Van Evera, dean of Sponsored Research at the University, said that we need technicians just to keep the country running. We need more technicians to improve conditions, and even more to keep pace in the arms race.

Speaking on the general topic of "Science and Politics," he blamed any shortage of scientists America might be faced with today on the social outcasting of science. Dr. Van Evera placed the responsibility for this crowding of science to one side on the educational philosophy of "free election." This meant that a student knew best which courses he wanted, even though the student did not possess the background to make such a choice.

When questioned on the school system of the Soviet Union, Dr. Van Evera declared that he "did not know much about it" but that it must be at least reasonably good because the Russians have advanced a great deal in scientific experiment.

Early Instruction

He ventured that "Sputniks" are wonderful because of the attention they bring to the research needs of our country. Dr. Van Evera added that the promise of more money as well as the teaching of science earlier would get qualitative thinking earlier and attract more students to science.

Political Football

Commenting on government-sponsored research, Dr. Van Evera said that such support becomes a political football. He also likened research to a mental orchestra, all the parts of which must be in tune. Research is done with human minds and to speed up such work usually involves waste. Dr. Van Evera continued that one mind on a thought may develop that thought as rapidly as many minds on the same subject.

'Who's Who' Recognizes 29 For 1957-1958 Membership

• TWENTY-NINE UNIVERSITY seniors were recognized by "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" last week.

Selections for the national honorary, undergraduate equivalent of "Who's Who in America," were made by the Student Life committee with the approval of the Who's Who national administration.

The committee based its choices on applicants' leadership in campus activities, scholarship, service to the University and potential usefulness to society.

Students named were Ernest Auerbach, Warren Barley, Doris Severe Bruffey, Phyllis Ann Charnley, Richard Cook, Kathleen Denver, Meredith Eagon, Raymond Garcia, Francis Gleason and Carole Hesse.

Also William Hinely, Mary Hoffman, Eugene Horowitz, Richard Jamborsky, Kittie Maddock, Bunny Miller, James Newheiser, Jerry Osborne, Ruth Reagan and Vincent Rider.

Also Al Rode, Jerry Roemer, Doris Rosenberg, Edward Rutsch, Eva Lee Schroebel, Michael Sommer, Susan Thayer, Samuel Togas and Paul Truntich.

Selection for Who's Who follows a definite pattern each year. A student is first officially recommended from his college or university after which he is accepted by the Who's Who organization. Each year approximately 700 colleges and universities throughout the nation participate in the recognition plan.

Faculty members of the Student Life committee are Dr. James H. Coberly, Dr. Don C. Faith, Miss Virginia R. Kirkbride, Dr. Carol R. St. Cyr and Dr. Richard W. Stevens. Students on the committee are Kittie Maddock, Gene Horowitz, Doris Rosenberg, Al Rode, Kathy Denver and Jerry Roemer.

Pictures of the entire Who's Who group, along with brief activity sketches of each student, are scheduled for publication in next week's issue of the HATCHET.

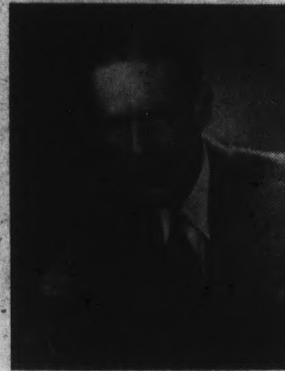

Acheson To Give Lecture On Atomic Energy Dec. 11

• ATOMIC ENERGY, the first inherently socialistic enterprise faced by democracy, will highlight the address "Can Democracy Afford the Atom?" by Dr. Edward C. Acheson, associate professor of finance, tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. in Lisner lounge.

The difficulties encountered in developing atomic power rapidly and efficiently through the free enterprise system will be among the points emphasized by Dr. Acheson at the Mortar Board fall Lisner Lecture.

The introduction of gunpowder in the 14th and 15th centuries and its effect upon the ruling classes of economy of the period is comparable to some of the conflicts between democratic ideals and the development of atomic power today, according to Dr. Acheson.

Dr. Acheson served as economic adviser on reciprocal aid, lend lease administrator and special representative of President Truman to explore the food potential of Northern Europe and as chief of Economic Intelligence in the Mortar Board, senior women's honorary. The Lisner lectures are replacing the Last Lecture series, sponsored by Mortar Board in past years. Each semester a University professor who is outstanding in his field is invited to speak on any topic of his choosing. The lectures are designed to bring interesting and timely talks on subjects of public interest to the student body, according to Bunny Miller, Mortar Board Lisner lecture chairman.

Dean Elmer L. Kayser, dean of the Division of University Students and professor of European history, will present the spring Lisner Lecture on March 12.

Important! Hatchet Reporters

• THIS WEEK'S REGULAR HATCHET meeting will be held today at 12:30 p.m. in the back office of the HATCHET. All reporters who cannot attend this meeting should see the news editor between 7:30 and 8:00 p.m. this evening in the back office.

Cherry Tree Sales Begin

• THE 1958 EDITION of the CHERRY TREE is now on sale in the Student Union lobby.

The CHERRY TREE booth will be open every day from 12 noon to 1:00 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and every evening between 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. The yearbook may be ordered with a campus combo or a downpayment of $3.50 before December 20.

This year's CHERRY TREE is expected to be the largest in its history, editor Crump forecasts, due to the addition of a 40-page review of the year section. This addition is made possible by the record number of Combo sales this fall. The review of the year, from February 1957 to February 1958 will devote several pages of photographs to events including the football and basketball games, the upcoming holiday season, registration, Winter Weekend, Colonial Cruise, the rush season, Homecoming and other events.

Queen Candidates

Miss Ramage reminds candidates that their written applications are due before five o'clock on December 11 all the student activities office, or the applications may be given to Sue Thayer, publicity director. Two copies of a formal and an informal photograph should be given to the student activities office or Miss Thayer by January 7, 1958.

Dr. Stevens spoke on how psychiatry, psychology and neurology can function together in the clinical approach to patients. The speech was based on the point of view of psychology. Dr. Johnson supported Dr. Stevens' speech with a thesis, "A Study of Psychological Findings of One Hundred Children Recovering from Purulent Meningitis."

In his talk, Dr. Stevens brought out the fact that about 87 percent of the medical schools employ a psychologist for diagnostic work.

To Cure Apathy

• A FEW SCHOLARSHIPS, granted primarily on the basis of contributions to the University activity program, could be a major factor in increasing participation in the activity program and curing student apathy.

Under the existing scholarship system, there are two main criteria for awarding scholarships to students already enrolled in the University. Athletic scholarships are given to football, baseball and basketball players and tuition is awarded to men participating in some minor sports. Other scholarships are awarded to students with at least a 3.0, and both activities and need are considered in the granting of these awards. However, there is no scholarship at present which stresses contributions in activities as the basic criteria.

Awards to students, based primarily on service in activities with lower scholarship requirements than the 3.0 QPI required by the existing non-athletic awards would be of great value in stimulating an increase in activity participation. However, these awards might not fulfill their purpose if they became automatic scholarships awarded annually to the holders of certain high offices in the activity program.

To effectively increase participation, the scholarship should be granted on the basis of past service as an indication of future potential that might be lost to the University if the individual in question were forced to work instead of continuing and increasing his activity work.

We understand that the Administration has under consideration thoughts of a reappraisal of the present scholarship program. In any expansion of the scholarship program, the inclusion of true activity scholarships would be of great benefit to the University activity program.

Take Notice!

• STUDENTS TAKE NOTICE. Tomorrow night at the Mortar Board Lisner Lecture series, culture will make one of its more outstanding appearances on the George Washington campus.

Dr. Acheson, associate professor of finance, will discuss "Can Democracy Afford the Atom." The address will highlight the problem of financing atomic energy development and the changes needed in our society to overcome this problem.

Dr. Acheson has wide experience in the field of economics. He was economic advisor on reciprocal aid, lend lease administrator, and a special representative of President Truman.

Frequently we have heard of criticism that there is a lack of events at this University devoted to the more serious side of life. This certainly will not be the case tomorrow night.

Students should take advantage of this opportunity and attend the important and interesting speech given by Dr. Acheson. The lecture will be held in Lisner Lounge at 8:30 p.m.

Moroccan King Receives Degree

By Patricia Brett

• "YOU ARE A king by your own Fireside, as much as any Monarch in his throne," wrote Cervantes almost 400 years ago and this idea is the basis of the American form of democracy. But there is still something thrilling about meeting royalty, whether their country be great or small.

The honor of meeting His Majesty, King Mohammed V of Morocco, was afforded to various members of G.W.'s faculty and administration at a special exercise on November 27 where His Majesty was presented with a Doctor of Laws degree for "his high service and to recognize the friendship existing between the Sovereign State of Morocco and the United States of America."

The honorary degree, as well as a specially made gown and hood with a gold tassel was presented to the King by President Marvin. In appreciation, Mohammed V presented G. W. with a hand-written, leather tooled 17th century History of Morocco from his private collection. This copy written in Arabic, can now be seen at the library.

After the conferring of the degree an elaborate breakfast was served to a privileged 100 at the Mayflower Hotel. The menu ranged from American scrambled eggs to Moroccan lamb and potatoes.

Representing G. W. at the special exercise was Dr. John Latimer, University Marshal; Rev. Dr. Joseph Sizbo, Millbank professor of religion who gave the invocation; Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, member of the Board of Trustees; Dean Oswald Colclough, Dean of Faculties and deans of the various schools and colleges of the University. Important dignitaries numbered HRH Prince Moulay Abdallah; cabinet members of the Moroccan government and ambassadors from Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Pakistan Morocco, Libya, Afghanistan, the Republic of the Sudan and the Kingdom of Jordan.

• OH! AH! AND down you go was a familiar experience on campus this week as snow and ice added a little spice to our fascinating daily routine.

Pledge formal and more pledge formal. Chi Omega held its pledge formal at the Hotel 2400 Friday night with Larry Lane's (G. W. grad.) orchestra providing the music. Pledges and dates were: Judy Alafogones and Sam Poulas, Liz Wilcox and Jack Tolani, Liz Baumgardner and Dave Brown, Margie Thomas and Dave Zwerner, Karen Gross and Bob Thornhill, Carolyn Tucker and Ben Steward, Sue Dodds and Jack Diamond, Joan Darley and Bizzie Lipscomb, Marie Tyler and Bruce Abel, Lynn McMorris and Jack Hoffman and Clare Clavert with Joe Morris. A cocktail-buffet party was held at Nancy Briggs' house before the dance, and a breakfast and slumber party was held at Clare Clavert's after the dance.

The KD pledge formal held on November 22nd started off in fine spirit with a cocktail party at Kathy Denver's apartment and collapsed with a breakfast at Jan Bennett's house. Among those present were: Sally Ludlow with Rowland Croft, Marilyn Hoffman and friend Joe from Penn State, Kathy Denver and Phil Sig Bill Holt, Jane Bennett and Sig Ep Jack Dano, Sue Ford and Delt Dave Harriman, Gail Everteen and KA Alex Healin, Janice Breckley and Phil Sig Mike Taylor, Ann Hughes and another Phil Sig Cameron Peppit, Joyce Mandley and Delt Kayler Craven, Ann Risher and Delt Howard Myers and Liz Moore with Pike Charlie McDurdy.

Friday, November 22, Zeta Tau Alpha held its annual pledge formal in the Caribar Room of the Sheraton Park Hotel. Zeta president Patti Fisher formally introduced the sixteen pledges who are: Lynn Ockerman, Joanne Rosetta, Nancy Tully, Sallie Harrington, Dotti Lund, Margie Welbes, Joan Berberich, Lucy Boyd, Jackie Jones, Elaine Engel, Barbara Spadetti, Bobbie Pomplio, Anita Smith, Carol Miller, Kathy Carrol and Janet Spittle. After the introduction Patti surprised Sigma Chi Bob Jewett by crowning him "Dream King of ZTA." The dance was also well attended by chapter members and alumnae. Music was provided by Larry Lane (he's a popular boy) and his band. Before the dance a cocktail party was held at the home of Neal Hyatt.

There were evil doings at the Phi Alpha house that went under the title of a Gangster Party. Some of the underground seen firing it up were Lenny White and Deuteron Judy Becker, Irwin Reuben and Deuteron Kitty Gruen, David White and Mildred Shapiro, Paul Garner and Deuteron Joan Begelman and Pres. Richie Pincus and Deuteron pledge Diane Sugar (I guess these boys like Deuteron.) Party ended as all were locked up safely for the night!

The AEP's celebrated the end of another week with a hassle after the play Saturday night. Seen pulverizing the pretzels were pledge Mike Auster and date Billy Geller, Rick Silas and steady Audrey Margmon, Roy DuBrow with Janet Ginberg. Other brothers in attendance (sounds formal) included Stu Metro with Deanna Greenstein, and Al Newman with Myrna Statland. New chapter mascot, boxer puppy "Sam," came stag. I hear that Sam was unavailable for comment on the party as someone mixed Ballantine with his Redheart.

Outstanding Mary Hoffman Finds Activities, Art and A's are Fun

by Elva Lee Schroedel

• BRUNETTE AND WELL groomed, Mary Hoffman combines the efficiency of a school leader and the wandering imagination of an artist.

Mary's career in the student activities began even before she was registered at the University. "My cousin, Bob Riggs ('55)," she explains, "went to G. W. and he was always bringing me into things at the University. He was on the HATCHET staff and when they needed typists for the orientation issue, he roped me in and they put my name on the mast head. And so I was officially on the senior staff of the HATCHET before I had even registered at the University."

Even after she was registered, Mary continued to work on the HATCHET and for two years served as office manager. She also got into the Dance Production Groups as a freshman, starting off in Group III. During her three years at the University, Mary has been in many dance concerts and productions and is now in Group I.

"One of the productions I remember most distinctively," she says, "was the 'Twelve Nights of Christmas' which we put on at the Pageant of Peace. We nearly froze to death!"

Also in freshman year Mary joined the International Student Society, and last year she was corresponding secretary. Holder of the high school scholarship from Wilson High School, Mary was a member of Alpha Theta Nu, scholarship holders' club, and by virtue of a 3.6 in her first semester, qualified for Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary for freshmen. She has been treasurer and last year was president of this organization. This year, "I'm senior Advisor, because ALD only has one senior now."

Sophomore year Mary added to her activities Big Sis and Colonial Boosters publicity work. She was tapped for Tassels, University honorary for sophomore women, and elected meetings chairman, which is the equivalent of president.

This same year she joined the Flying Sponsors of which she was later to become president.

Last year she also worked on the May Day committee, taking charge of the May Queen voting. At the May Day Assembly, in recognition of all her activities and high scholarship, she was awarded the silver bowl of the Mortar Board "Outstanding Sophomore Woman" award.

Junior year, just to be consistent, she was named "Outstanding Junior Woman," and tapped for Mortar Board.

Now in her senior year at the University, Mary serves as Historian for Mortar Board, national honorary for senior women. She was active during orientation as president of Big Sis, of which she has been a member since sophomore year, serving as second vice president in her junior year.

Meanwhile, she has an overall Q.P.I. of about 3.8, having made a 4.0 twice. How does she keep track of everything? "Well, actually," says Mary, "I have a very poor memory. I'm always forgetting people's names and I can never track of things. Unless I write something down, I'm sunk. I guess it's the artist in me. The very worst thing that can happen to me is to misplace my 'Daily Reminder.' When I lose that, I've lost my memory completely."

The "artist in me" dominates her curriculum. A major in Art

MARY HOFFMAN

History and Theory, Mary nonetheless takes classes at Corcoran every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning in drawing, just for experience and for no university credit. Afternoons and evenings, she takes fifteen hours in Art History and Theory, and sometime in between she manages to hold down her job as student assistant in the Art Department.

The "artist in me" is also reflected in Mary's somewhat unorthodox engagement ring. "I didn't want the standard thing, so Bob designed this himself," she says, showing a lovely star sapphire surrounded by tiny diamonds, which she wears on her left hand. "Bob" is Bob Forbes, whom Mary met when both were freshmen at the University. They started going together at Homecoming that year ("Homecoming always means something special to me," says Mary) when he gave her his high school ring. Since then Bob has transferred to A. U. and marriage plans must await his graduation.

The Good Defeat The Wicked In G. W. U. Players' Melodrama

by Betsy Evans

• THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS' production of the Victorian thriller "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" last weekend was an experiment in calculated corn. It was a noble try. The cast was generally excellent in a variety of roles that called for much performing, but very little acting.

Friday night, battling a sparse house in a play whose ultimate success depended upon an enthusiastic and responsive audience, the Players nevertheless maintained the jocund spirit of the melodrama from beginning to end. Bob Dolson's portrayal of the black-hearted Munro Murgatroyd drew bold hisses at every appropriate moment.

It is hard to imagine a better Nellie Lovelace than Polly Clainos, a newcomer to the Lisner stage. Miss Clainos characterized the typical melodramatic heroine with perfect innocence and simplicity. Particularly pleasing were her rich speaking voice and the captivating sparkle in her eyes.

Vincent Mortorano as Mookie Maguggins, a dim-witted, big-hearted yokel, nearly stole the show on several occasions. His manner was winning, his timing was virtually flawless, and his drawl was a rustic masterpiece.

Mr. Dolson, veteran of many Lisner performances, played the villain's part with polished cunning. His sinister leer and his slinking walk were especially effective, and his voice and his laugh carried intonations of unqualified evil.

Johanna Rosengarten was a thoroughly convincing Ida Rhinegold, "belle of the New Haven campus" and wife of the villainous Murgatroyd. Bill Dotson was appropriately mild as the stalwart Adam Oakhart, local blacksmith and suitor of the hapless Nellie.

Edna Clark was utterly charming in the role of a little French maid. Norton Hardesty made a brief, but effective appearance as Upson Asterbilt, millionaire ex-alcoholic. Other supporting roles were well played by Carol Ross, Bernadette Wilson and Catherine Hyland.

In true melodrama tradition, the story was laced with several old musical favorites. Among the audience-pleasers were Miss Wilson's "Do Not Try to Tempt Me, Sir," Mr. Mortorano's "The Great County Fair" and Miss Clainos' "Why Did They Dig Ma's Grave So Deep?" Between-act entertainment by members of the cast was amusing, if purposeless. Mr. Dolson presented an especially gay music spoof.

Although the show's pace often lagged, there was never a break in the basic tongue-in-cheek mood. Much credit for this consistency must go to director Morgan James. Deserving special mention are scene builder and light engineer Al Justice, whose stage effects were ingenious; pianist Bob Bloch, for his delightful contributions from the keyboard, and costume designer Jan Martinez, who outfitted the cast in perfect keeping with their roles.

as tea and crumpets. It was corn-for-corn's-sake, and nothing more. If the production had no other practical value, it at least demonstrated very soundly that the University Players are capable of more than "Dirty Work at the Crossroads."

• (ACP)—FRESHMEN WON'T BE allowed to bring their cars to Colorado University this year, but the ban is strictly from an academic point of view and not to solve parking problems.

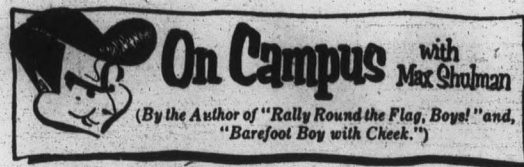

A study of first-year students who have trouble making the grade scholastically showed that more Freshmen with cars are on academic probation than those who rely on their feet for transportation.

From the Colorado School of Mines comes this thought: to a woman the perfect husband is one who thinks he has the perfect wife.

From an IOWA College paper comes this observation: "Some of the freshmen boys are embarrassed about the 'no shaving' rule in the initiation orders. Seems that they don't shave, anyway. Maybe it would make them feel better to know that there is a senior who has been shaving for three years and cut himself both times."

Add this to your vocabulary . . . "shoe" is the latest synonym for tremendous on the Cornell campus.

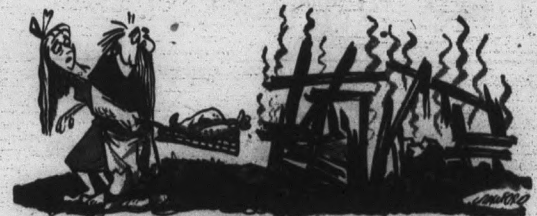

DECK THE HALLS

The days grow short, the nights grow long, the north wind doth blow, and a light frost appears on the knees of coeds. Christmas is icumen in, and once more our keen young minds turn to the vexing problem of Christmas gifts.

Let us examine first the most vexing of all gift problems: What do you buy for the person who has everything? Well sir, when you encounter this dilemma, the best thing to do is seize it by the horns. Ask yourself this question: Does he truly have everything? Does he, for example, have a birthmark? A Mach number? A lacrosse net? An I-beam? An S-hook? A U-bolt? A T-square? A Primus stove?

(There is, incidentally, quite an interesting little story about how Primus came to invent the stove. Before Primus's invention, cooking was rather a hazardous occupation. People just built fires any old place—the floor, the closet, the escritoire—and often as not the whole house would go up in flames along with the dinner. Primus, a goose plucker of Frankfurt-am-Main, kept thinking there must be a more efficient way to cook. Finally, in a flash of inspiration, it came to him: Why not build a device to contain the fire and keep it from spreading?

...his mistake was in building it out of paper...

(Well sir, he built precisely such a device and named it after his beloved wife Stove. Primus's first Stove, it must be confessed, was less than a triumph; his mistake was in building it out of paper. The next Stove, built of wood, fared hardly better. Not until he made one out of metal could the Stove really be called a success.

(But even then the Stove was not entirely satisfactory. The trouble was that the Stove filled up with ashes and became useless after a few weeks. It remained for Primus's son Frederick to conquer that problem. He invented a mechanism to remove ashes from the bottom of the Stove and was thenceforth known to posterity as Frederick the Grate.)

But I digress. We were discussing Christmas gifts. This year, as every year, a popular gift is the smoking jacket. And what do the smoking jackets smoke? Why, Marlboro, of course—every man jacket of them. And why wouldn't they smoke Marlboros? Why wouldn't anybody with a taste bud in his head? You get such a lot to like in a Marlboro—filter . . . flavor . . . flip-top box.

Here is no filter to hollow the cheeks and bug the eyeballs; here is a filter that draws nice and easy. Here is no flavor to pale and pall; here is a flavor ever fresh, ever zestful. Here is no flimsy pack to crumble and shred its precious cargo; here is a sturdy box that keeps each cigarette plump and pristine.

Speaking of smoking, the year's most unusual gift item is a brand-new cigarette lighter that never needs refilling. You are scoffing. You are saying you have heard such claims before. But it's true, I promise you. This new lighter never, never needs refilling! The fuel supply lasts forever.

Of course, there are certain disadvantages. For one thing, the lighter is rather bulky—170 feet long and three stories high.

But look on the bright side: As the fuel runs out, you can rent rooms in it.

Good to give, good to receive, at Christmas or any other time is a carton of filter-tip Marlboros, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year.

If you join APL as a Physicist . . .

At the Applied Physics Laboratory (APL) of The Johns Hopkins University you would enjoy a larger measure of initiative and responsibility than that extended graduates by most research and development organizations.

As pioneers in guided missiles (we developed TALOS and TERRIER), APL offers physicists an opportunity to undertake either fundamental or applied research. With us you would deal with diverse problems ranging from microwave studies of the properties of free radicals to the design of automatic test equipment for operational checkout of complex missile systems.

The physicist at APL is continually seeking ways to extend his knowledge of the fundamental principles of the physical sciences and to apply these to solutions of practical engineering problems. In finding answers related to major problems of the armed forces, physicists at APL have made their greatest contributions to the science and to our nation's defense.

Qualified candidates will be invited to visit our new laboratory in Howard County, Maryland. Those selected will be given the opportunity of choosing their own starting positions. Salaries compare favorably with industrial organizations, and our fringe benefits are excellent due to our affiliation with the University. For detailed information ask your Placement Officer for our new 30-page publication or write: Professional Staff Appointments.

Herman, Frulla '58 Co-Capts.

• COLONIALS INCORPORATED, a sports sponsoring organization from George Washington University, held their annual football dinner for the varsity football squad at the Congressional Country Club last Thursday evening.

Highlighting the night was the choosing of Co-Captains for the 1958 season. End Don Herman and guard Bob Frulla were nominated by the team as Co-Captains for '58.

Guard Marion Hoar was selected as the outstanding senior on the squad and halfback Mike Sommer was chosen the most valuable player.

Eddie LeBaron, quarterback of the Washington Redskins, was the guest speaker of the evening. Eddie commented on Sommer's being his future teammate and he reminisced about the time he played college football for the College of the Pacific.

LeBaron is a student at the George Washington University's Law School. He is also an active participant in the University's Intramural program headed by Vincent DeAngelis.

Frulla and Herman, selected as Co-Captain, have been mainstays of the team all year long.

Herman started his first year as first-string end this year. Don caught eight passes good for 162 yards. Last year Don played behind All-Southern Conference end Paul Thompson and Bill Berry.

Frulla has been a wall in the Buff line all year. Bob was given an honorable mention nomination by the United Press in their choice for All-Southern Conference.

Hoar, outstanding senior, was about the most steady ballplayer on the squad. Weighing in at 200 pounds, Marion was below the average 209 pounds of the line, but he was an aggressive lineman all year long.

Sommer, the most valuable player, is by far the most colorful and most highly publicized player on the team. Number one draft choice of the Washington Redskins, on the Associated Press and United Presses All-Southern Conference first teams, and honorable mention on the All-American team were many other honors Sommer has gained this year.

research or teaching. In addition to his speech, Dr. Stevens showed slides of various EEG recordings of epileptics.

The purpose of the study at Children's Hospital, on which Dr. Johnson's thesis is based, was to determine the effects of the disease by comparing the pre-illness psychological status of the children with the post-illness status. This was done by a series of three tests: a social quotient test given when the child entered the hospital and two IQ tests given one month and three months after the child recovered.

Dr. Johnson said that the main contribution of the psychologist is testing. A question and answer period followed the speeches.

Morris Leads Sigs To Win in Swimming

by Aaron Knott

• JOE MORRIS LED Sigma Chi to victory in the intramural swim-meet last Thursday evening. Morris, who swam for the Walter Reed Swim Team didn't lose any of the events he entered, came in first in the 50 yd. butterfly, 75 yd. butterfly, and the 75 yd. individual medley, and set a new intramural record for the 75 yd. individual medley.

Sigma Chi won the team championship with 59 points, placing first in the 50 yd. butterfly, 75 yd. butterfly, 75 individual medley, 100 yd. freestyle and the 75 yd. freestyle relay races. The Sig's placed second in the 50 yd. freestyle race, and placed fourth in the 75 yd. freestyle, and the 75 yd. individual medley events.

In second place with 49 points was Delta Theta Phi who won the 50 yd. backstroke, the 75 yd. freestyle and the 75 yd. backstroke races. DTPH placed second in the 75 yd. medley relay, and the 75 yd. individual medley and placed third in the 75 yd. backstroke races.

AEP; Third

Alpha Epsilon Pi placed third in team competition with 45 points. AEPi took first place in the 50 yd. freestyle and the 75 yd. medley relay; second place in the 50 yd. butterfly and 75 yd. butterfly, and the 75 yd. individual medley; and AEPi took fourth place in the 100 yd. freestyle race.

Fourth in team competition was Sigma Nu with 22 points. SN placed second in the 75 yd. freestyle, 100 yd. freestyle, and 75 yd. freestyle relay events, and placed fourth in the 75 yd. medley relay race.

The individual winners were: first, Morris SX 33½ points; second, Steinmetz DTPH 30½ points; third, Michaelis AEPi 24½ points, and fourth, Gabor SX 20½ points.

Steinmetz Second

Steinmetz placed first in the 50 yd. backstroke and 75 yd. backstroke, and he took second place in the 75 yd. individual relay.

Michaelis placed first in the 50 yd. freestyle, second in the 50 yd. butterfly, and third in the 75 yd. individual medley races.

Gabor placed first in the 100 yd. freestyle, and second in the 50 yd. freestyle races.

The next event on the Women's Athletic Association's schedule is extramural basketball. The teams plays an eight game schedule, including the four teams they played in hockey. Miss Stallings, an assistant professor in the woman's physical education department is coaching this year's team.

Out of a possible 30 candidates who tried out for the team, 16 were picked to play extramural basketball. Returning veterans are: Jo Peters, Nancy Bealle, Toy Chan and Lisa Skinrod.

Spring Sport

The Spring sport for the association will be tennis. Softball will not be played this year, because it is played only every other year.

... Sam Knisely (51) drives in for a layup in the first half of the George Washington-Maryland game last Wednesday night. Watching Knisely are John Nacincik (33); Charles McNeil (50) and Buckey McDonald (13). Between the two Maryland players is Al Bunge, Terp sophomore sensation. Knisely missed the layup and Maryland went on to win 64-55.

Buff Sailing Team Takes 2nd in Frostbite Regatta

by Bob Lipman

• THE GEORGE WASHINGTON Sailing Team took second place in the eleventh annual Frostbite Regatta at the Corinthian Yacht Club on December 7-8.

This was the sailing team's last race of the season. Bowdoin took first place in the regatta.

Sommer Selected As First Draft Choice, All-American, All S.C.

• MIKE SOMMER, WHO has been starring for George Washington's football team all season, but receiving very little satisfaction, finally got his just reward this month. Sommer was selected as the number one draft choice of the Washington Redskins in the annual professional football draft.

This came as quite a surprise to most football fans, but Joe Kuharich, Coach of the Washington Redskins, said Sommer is fast, aggressive and a top defensive back. Kuharich said that Sommer would fit in ably in the Redskins backfield.

Two G. W. 'ites

This makes the first time that George Washington has ever produced a first round professional football draftee, and it also makes the second Redskins who goes to G. W. Eddie LeBaron, first-string quarterback for the Skins goes to G. W.'s law school.

Sommer was actually the Redskins' second draft choice, because their first choice was involved in trade made last year.

Local Boy

The move to the Washington Redskins is strictly according to Sommer's schedule. He went to high school at Woodrow Wilson in the District, played college football for the Colonials and now will play pro ball for the Skins. It's been D. C. all the way for Mike.

The United Press selected Sommer as first-team, All-Southern Conference halfback. Along with Sommer, Ed Rutch was chosen as All-Southern Conference tackle by the United Press. Guard Bob Frulla was given an honorable mention.

Sommer On A-P

The Associated Press also picked Sommer to the All-Southern Conference first team, and selected Rutch and Frulla as honorable mentions.

To top off Mike's last year at George Washington, Sommer received national recognition from the sportswriters of the country

Much prestige was earned by the sailing team in this regatta. In placing second the team beat Navy, the area champions, 102-98, and defeated Princeton, the National Sailing champions, 102-92.

Rick Davies was high point skipper of the regatta. Davies scored three firsts and 60 out of a possible 80 points to be top man. Davies earned himself recognition as one of the top skippers in the country.

In placing second the sailing team beat Navy, Fordham, Detroit U., Princeton, Georgetown, Colgate and Catholic University.

Sailing for the school were Rick Davies, Peter Davies and Peter Gianacakis with crews Francis Visconti, Gigi Winslett and Betty Barry. The Frostbite Regatta was Gianacakis' last race for the Colonials for he will graduate in February.

Good Year

The sailing team had a fine year. They placed second in the area championships, beat Georgetown in a team race, placed seventh in the Denmark Trophy competition and placed tenth in the Middle Atlantic championships.

as he was on the honorable mention list of the All-American team.

Leading Scorer

This year Sommer did a bang-up job for the Colonials. He led the team in scoring with 36 points. Mike would have won the Southern scoring title, but Mickey Marinkov, Richmond, edged Mike out. Richmond had a ten-game schedule.

Sommer led the Colonials in total offense and rushing with 456 yards. This includes a leg injury sustained at the beginning of the Virginia Military Institute game and the toe injury Mike had in the Navy game.

Kick-off Returns

In kick-off returns Sommer returned nine for a 19.9 average. Sommer had a 13.2 punt return plus one touchdown.

Defensively Sommer intercepted two passes for 40 yards. He caught eight passes for 182 yards and one touchdown. Sommer even tried one punt good for 35 yards. Mike threw one pass that was incomplete.

Basketball Schedule

Maryland, W&M Defeat Colonials

• THE GEORGE WASHINGTON basketball team started the season rather unsuccessfully, losing to Maryland and William and Mary last week.

While a snowstorm raged over Maryland's field house, the Buff gave a Terp team, considered one of the finest in Maryland's history, a run for their money before bowing 64-55.

G. W. took a 4-0 lead, but by halftime the Terps had a comfortable ten point, 33-23, bulge.

Gene Guarilia racked up 22 points to lead all scorers for the evening. Ralph Kunz, from last year's freshman team, played excellent ball for the Buff and pumped in six points. Kunz was a starter in last Saturday's William & Mary game.

John Nacincik and big Al Bunge paced the Terps with 15 points apiece.

Two times in the last period, G. W. pulled to within five points of Maryland, but fouls and poor accuracy ruined the Colonials' chances for an upset. The Buff hit on only 36% of their shots, while the Terps connected on 44%.
